AST 1078: Life in the Universe

 Discusses Earthly “life as we know it,” then considers the possibilities of biological life elsewhere in the Solar System - and beyond. Describes the general conditions favoring planetary habitability, planetary detection techniques, and the likelihood of finding intelligent extraterrestrial life.

 Credits: 3
 Program: Astrophysics and Planetary Science